

“Stop Acting.”

Find the truth in your work.

A Workshop with Director/Actor Ronnie Marmo

Are you looking for a truthful and supportive environment to develop your skills as an artist?

Join me in my workshop and improve your audition technique, scene work and cold readings in the following ways:

- ... break down your scripts/scenes with deeper comprehension
- ... make your work unique
- ... learn how to trust your instincts
- ... find the emotional truth in your work
- ... get more detailed in your scene study
- ... improve your ability to act moment-to-moment
- ... be able to better develop your characters
- ... identify and break old habits
- ... find your confidence; overcome fear & doubt
- ... empower yourself by approaching your career from a business perspective

- This is an ongoing class
- $250/four weeks
- Tuesday nights 7-11pm
- Location: The Noho Arts Center
- Limited Space Available
- Small Class Size
- Everyone works in every class

To enroll or inquire:
ronniemostudio@gmail.com

Director - Actor - Producer

Ronnie Marmo is originally from Brooklyn, NY. He began his career starring in Deuces Wild. He recently completed the feature film Back in the Day starring opposite Alec Baldwin, as well as a 150 episode arc on General Hospital. Ronnie has directed over 50 plays, films and TV series. He has produced 12 films and 75 plays/musicals in LA and NYC. He has been the proud Artistic Director of Theatre 68 in LA and NYC for 15 years.

www.ronniemarmo.com

RonnieMarmo.actor